

TRASHCAN DOOR ACTUATION SYSTEM

ABSTRACT

5 The invention can be generally characterized as a system that allows a user of a trashcan to throw away their items while minimizing their contact with a contaminated surface of a trashcan. In one preferred embodiment, the invention provides a handle that is adapted to couple to a trashcan door so that the trashcan door may be opened without actually touching the trashcan door surface.